Make observations at different times of year to relate the amount of daylight to the time of year.

Dear Parent,

Although life gets busy, you should try to read with your child at least once a day at a regularly scheduled time. Don't be discouraged if you miss a day. Just read to your child as often as possible.

Aloha,

Beth and Jake

Can you tell time?

On a clock, the short hand tells the hour and the long hand tells the minute.

It is time to wake up!

It is 7:00 AM.

Bashir vive en una granja. Él y sus animales se levantan con el sol.

Bashir lives on a farm. He and his animals get up with the Sun.

Un día Bashir no se levantó con el sol. El gallo cantó, pero Bashir no se levantó.

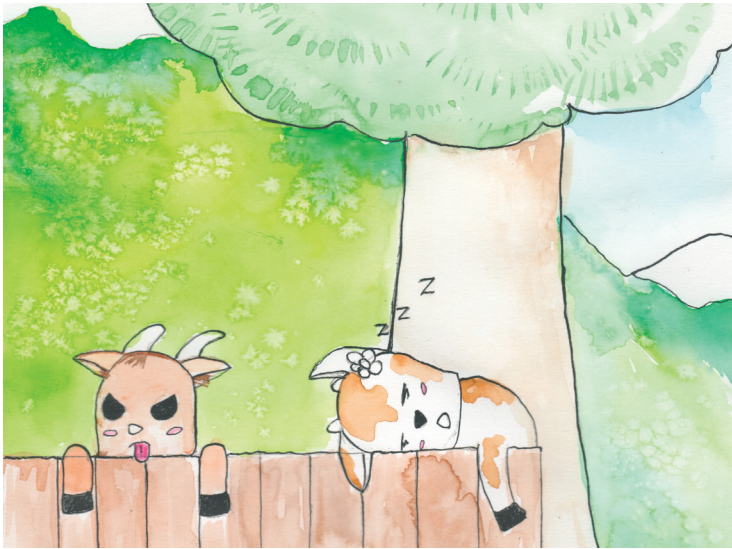

One day Bashir did not get up with the Sun. The rooster called, but Bashir did not get up.

El perro estaba triste. Quería salir a caminar.

The dog was sad. He wanted to go for a walk.

Los animales hicieron ruido para sacar a Bashir de la cama.

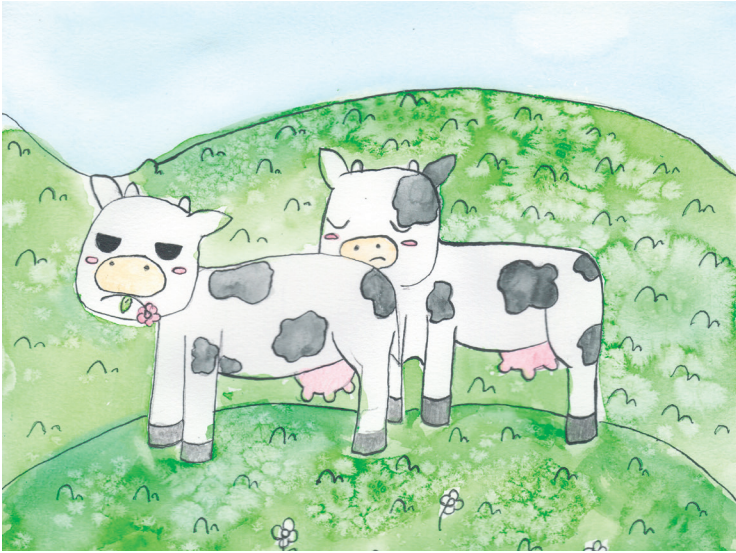

The animals made noise to get Bashir out of bed.

Los animales no estaban contentos. El gato era malo.

The animals were not happy. The cat was bad.

Las vacas estaban tan enojadas que no dieron leche.

The cows were so mad that they did not give any milk.

La granja era un desastre. Bashir lo lamentó.

The farm was a mess. Bashir was sorry.

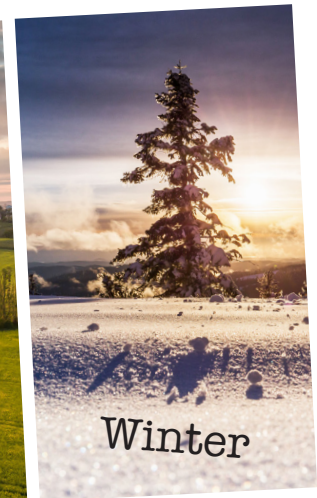

Ahora, Bashir se levanta con el sol para estar con sus animales todos los días.

Now, Bashir gets up with the Sun to be with his animals every day.

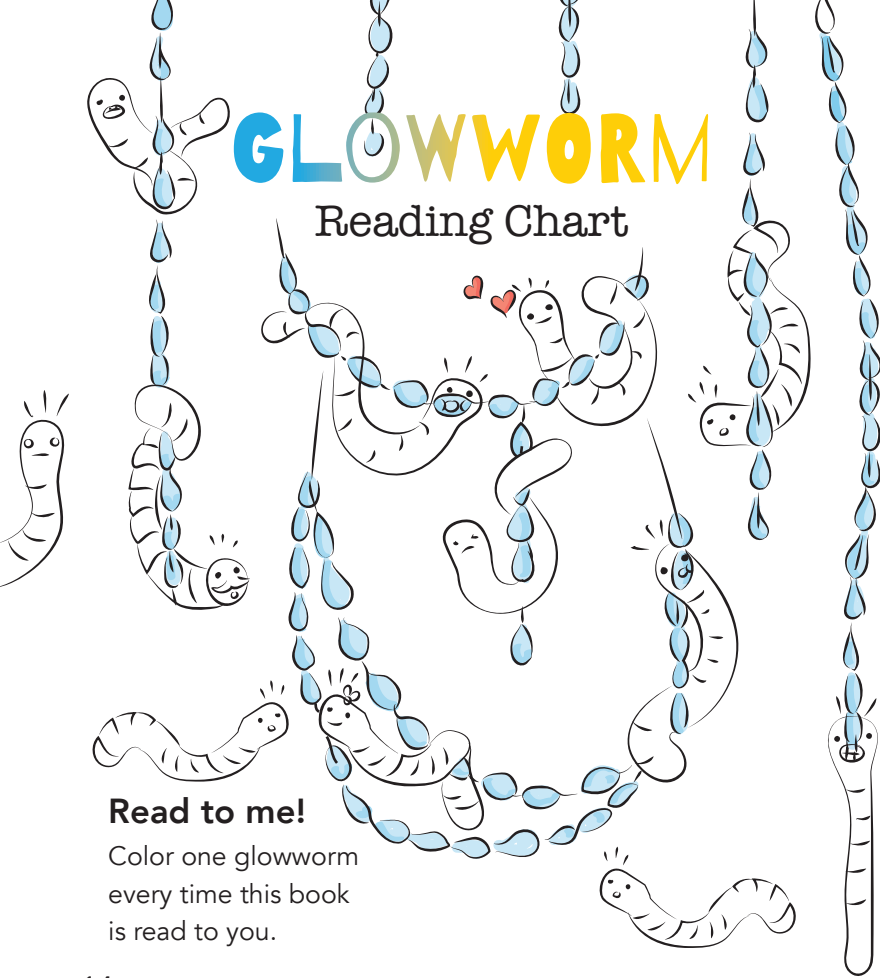

Read to me:

The length of a day changes throughout the year. Winter days are shorter and have less sunlight. Summer days are longer and receive more sunlight.
